“The finest in British Outdoor Joinery”

OXFORD PLANTERS

Handmade to perfection in the Cotswolds

Established in 2004, Oxford Planters is a leading British designer and maker of high-end planters and garden furniture. Having built our reputation on an exceptional range of hardwood and lead planters, our portfolio now extends to benches and tables, obelisks and trellises.

Committed to bringing beauty and practicality to any outdoor setting, our designs encompass both classic and modern styles. Over the years, Oxford Planters has also collaborated with talented independent designers, creating a number of iconic new products.

Everything we make is hand built to the customer's exact specification, ensuring a perfect match in terms of size, finish and detailing. Oxford Planters' skilled, time served joiners also have a passion for fully bespoke commissions.

We are equally serious about sustainability. Our products are made from carefully selected, FSC-accredited timbers. Combining the finest materials with relentless attention to detail, they will long outlast a mass produced alternative.

Respect for the environment therefore goes hand in hand with value for money.

OXFORD PLANTERS

The Oxford Planters' approach is appreciated by an ever growing number of personal customers, architects, and garden and interior designers. We also work with the National Trust and Historic Royal Palaces. From our home in the Cotswolds, we ship to clients around the world.

Oxford Planters exhibits at a number of prestigious shows, including the Chelsea Flower Show and The Landscape Event, and visitors are welcome at our Chipping Norton workshop. To make an appointment, please contact us on 01608 683022 or info@oxfordplanters.co.uk

The last word in bespoke British joinery

At Oxford Planters, we aim for the perfect solution for every customer and outdoor setting. Each component is designed, developed and produced in-house. Our joiners use traditional techniques throughout, marrying wonderful aesthetics with strength and longevity.

For a natural finish that will silver gracefully in the years ahead, we typically offer a choice of FSC-accredited oak or iroko. Alternatively, for a flawlessly coated product in your chosen colour, we use Accoya. Back in 2007, we became the first company to use this remarkable, FSC-accredited modified timber for garden furniture. Benefiting from a patented technology known as acetylation, Accoya will defy the elements for decades. It is guaranteed against rot below ground for 25 years, and above ground for 50 years.

Our approach to lead planters is similarly innovative. A substantial layer of code 4 lead is formed around an Accoya frame. This is far more resilient than conventional lead containers, and gives us the freedom to create shapes, designs and sizes that cannot be achieved using lead alone.

Oxford Planters' customer care reflects the quality of our products. We'll provide you with all the advice and guidance you need to protect and care for your handcrafted planter, obelisk, trellis, bench or table. Remember, we also pride ourselves on the ability to deliver completely bespoke solutions. To share your vision, please do not hesitate to contact the Oxford Planters' team on 01608 683022 or info@oxfordplanters.co.uk

LEAD PLANTERS

Oxford Planters has designed three stylish lead planters suitable for almost any setting, either inside or out. A bespoke design and manufacturing service is available to private individuals, designers and architects.

Each planter is hand made to order, and no two are ever exactly the same. The process begins with an Accoya™ frame, which a substantial layer of code 4 lead is hand-formed using traditional tools and methods.

MALVERN

This technique allows Oxford Planters to create shapes, designs and sizes of planter that could not be achieved using lead alone, due not only to the weight of the material, but also through the natural movement of the lead over time.

A further benefit of this innovative construction is that the resulting planters are far more resilient than traditional lead containers.

Made from hand selected Accoya and code 4 Lead.

OBELISKS

Each Obelisk is designed and made to enhance a range of garden settings and support your climbing plants and roses. Each obelisk is traditionally made to order using mortice and tenon joints. For all natural finished obelisks, we use hand-selected oak or iroko. For all painted obelisks we use Accoya™ and spray paint each to any colour of your choice.

All obelisks are made to order in our standard dimensions or your requested dimensions, and can be made to fit any of our planters.

LOOKING AFTER YOUR PLANTER

In some circumstances wood, particular oak, releases natural tannins (also found in tea, wine and many fruits). This is not a permanent condition, although it may cause a little discolouration if sited on natural stone surfaces. Tannin is water soluble and the stain will fade naturally in time. However it can be removed by pressure-washing or a mild bleach patio cleaner, such as Oxalic Acid, which we are able to provide.

As oak and hardwoods weather and age the products will turn a shade of silver-grey and there may be some movement. This is one of the beautiful characteristics of real wood, especially oak, and is not detrimental to the durability of the product. However to slow down this process and the release of tannins we recommend and can supply Osmo 240 UV protection oil extra in a satin matt clear finish. The product is based on natural vegetable oils, with a preservative, and is micro-porous, moisture regulating and should reduce swelling and shrinking. Natural oils penetrate deeply into the wood, keeping it elastic and healthy.
